Board Asks Cost Study Of Lecture Hall For Team Teaching At High School

Last night the Carmel Unified School District asked the staff to produce for the April 19 meeting figures on cost of building or buying, and equipping a lecture room for team teaching at Carmel High School.

Board member Mrs. Adrian Bennett, in a written report, recommended that facilities for team teaching be provided and pointed out that $18,000 was at hand, money that had been borrowed from the general fund for site purchase before bond money was available and has now been returned.

High School Principal Warren Edwards, thinking in terms of a steel portable building that could be moved to one of the elementary school sites when the high school moves to the mouth of the valley, estimated cost would run around $16,000. This amount had been included in the preliminary budget.

Dr. Richard Snyder proposed a permanent building of $60,000 or up, that would be the nucleus of a "community building". It could be financed by calling an election for voter approval of a 15 cent over-ride tax, he said. The district is at the "cross roads", and in calling an over-ride tax election voters would have a chance to decide whether or not the district should have team teaching, he concluded.

Dr. Grant Fletcher said the issue was not whether or not "we should have team teaching; we've had it for two years. As for asking the community if they like team teaching, very few understand it. It is an administrative problem."

He added that even if the over-ride should pass, "and I have serious doubts that it would," the delay of election would make it impossible to have the building for use next fall.

"A steel building is practical and meets deadline requirements; there would be no difficulty in moving a temporary building and it will be needed later at an elementary site," Dr. Fletcher stated.

None of the other board members expressed any enthusiasm for Dr. Snyder's proposal, and the staff was asked to look into the relative costs of a temporary wood and stucco building, and a steel portable, including all items of furnishing and equipment.

Earlier in the evening the Citizens Educational Study Committee, which has been investigating the pilot team teaching at the high school, submitted a report carrying its "unanimous approval of the goals and principles of the program" and it wished to see the program "developed to its full capabilities" provided it had board, community and staff "whole-hearted" support. The report emphasized: "this program can not suitably by carried out next year without the additional facilities of a large lecture hall directed mainly to the purposes of this program."

Other business:

The board approved Principal Warren Edward's proposal to conduct driver training classes during the summer vacation.

Requested paring of the "asking budget" by heads of departments. It is $98,312 over "anticipated" income; and anticipated income is represented at 8 percent or $79,000 less than it will be; the budget includes the teacher's most expensive proposed salary schedule, which the board has not as yet considered, in fact, everything everybody wants with a large margin of contingencies. The board did not appear to be concerned with the feat of bringing the 1961-62 budget into balance. The 1962-63 asking budget, which is $177,112 over anticipated income, caused some alarm, though more new teachers were provided for the junior high than will be necessary.

As an economy move, Mrs. Bennett proposed an increase in enrollment fees for adult school classes, and the board asked the staff to prepare a more complete report on costs than was available at last night's meeting.

A report that Sunset eighth graders had rated in the California Achievement Test 73 percentile or as a class tested one full year above the national norm was put over until the test results could be correlated with intelli-

Kite Festival Set For Saturday—If March Winds Blow

Kites of many varieties will soar and bob above town on Saturday afternoon, if the wind blows fair for the annual Carmel Kite Festival.

The event, sponsored by Carmel Lions Club and the Carmel School Recreation Department, will start at 1:30 o'clock at the High School football field. Everyone in the area old enough to construct a kite is eligible to enter. The only rules are: a kite must be made by the person entering it; each kite maker may enter only one contest other than the high flying; every kite must be flown to win a prize; no commercial kites will be allowed.

All kites will be eligible for the Willis F. White best international kite contest; the most unusual kite according to design and shape contest; the grand champion kite contest for the best all-around kite.

Ribbons and prizes will be awarded in each event. These are: prettiest, largest and 200 foot flight (15 minutes) for kite makers seven years old and under; high flying, prettiest and largest, eight years through 11 years; high flying, prettiest, largest, 12 years through 15 years; high flying, prettiest and largest, 16 years and older.

The Carmel Kite Festival was originated some 30 years ago by the late Reverend Willis F. White.

Laurence Horan Candidate For School Board

Laurence P. Horan, an attorney associated with State Senator Fred Farr in the practice of law in Carmel, this morning announced he would file candidacy papers today for election to the board of trustees of the Carmel Unified School District on May 18.

Clayton B. Neill, Jr., an engineer and graduate of Stanford School of Business Administration, and Dr. Robert E. Newton, head of the mechanical engineering department at the U. S. Naval Postgraduate School have already filed to fill the two vacancies on the board created by the expiring terms of Ted Fehring and George Yates, neither of whom will stand for re-election. Tomorrow is the last day for filing.

Mr. Horan became an associate of Senator Farr in February, 1960. In June of last year he moved his family to the Carmel area and lives in Rancho Canada in Carmel Valley. Prior to coming here he was a deputy district attorney in Alameda County for five years.

He is a graduate of the University of California and received his LL. B. Degree from Boalt Hall, University of California Law School. He and his wife, Jean, have four children: Kevin, six years old and a pupil at Carmelo School; Kathleen, four; Maureen, two; and Stephen, nine months old.

Mrs. Horan taught first grade in Alameda for four years and "supported me when I was in law school," Mr. Horan states. She "retired," he adds, six months after he graduated and received his appointment in Alameda County.

"Both Mrs. Horan and I are interested in education. Because we plan to educate our children here and will have from one to four children in Carmel schools for some years, we are particularly interested in the Carmel district," Mr. Horan said this morning.

"I believe members of a board of trustees should represent a variety of occupations and present a variety of viewpoints. There is no lawyer on the Carmel board and it is a good idea to have a lawyer on a school board," he continued.

Mr. Horan concluded by stating that he thinks voters should be able to make a choice among candidates and his candidacy will create such a choice for Carmel district voters. Also, the selection of a school trustee "is a most important connotation in education."

Neumann's Plans Not Dwellings Keeble Tells Other Planners

Plans submitted by Willard Neumann for two multi-bedroom houses situated in the triangular piece of property enclosed by Ocean Avenue, Torres and Mountain View Streets, met with the unofficial disapproval of the planning commission at their study session yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Neumann's request for rezoning of his residential property for apartment use was denied by the planning commission following a public hearing on January 18. He appealed this decision to the city council. The council sustained the planning commission denial at their meeting on March 8.

The legality of the Forest Lodge property now in multiple dwelling use is in question. Mr. Neumann proposes to rectify this by retaining the two-story building on the property as a residence and build-

Everybody Helped Carmel Red Cross To Help, During The War

Dr. G. H. Taubles, Carmel Red Cross Chapter Chairman, reviewing the chapter activities for the year 1942 said, "Before 1939, the Red Cross in this community was performing complete and outstanding service to the indigents, underprivileged and the unfortunates, and meeting these needs with a great abundance of contributions in money, materials and personal service." Dr. Taubles continued by saying that it was through the previous years of experience and preparatory work that the chapter was able to make the smooth transition to war time activities and service. More than that, the Chapter had projected the peace time program into a potent element in the local organizing against emergencies arising out of the war.

First aid training, long a chapter activity, took on new dimensions as all villagers flocked to classes, many of which were held in private homes in different areas of the town. Home nursing, introduced during the influenza epidemic, was reinstated, and classes in nutrition, started during the Great Depression, were continued. The Carmel Valley Unit, organized in 1941 by Mrs. Muriel Vanderbilt Phelps, went into full operation with a first aid station and ambulance and canteen bus. A surgical dressing room was added in the Valley and workers were transported there from Carmel by a trained motor corps in a 20 passenger bus. The production service both in Carmel and the Valley became beehives of activity.

To meet the shortage of nurses in both civilian and military hospitals, a new service was organized known as nurses aides. The 163 women who took the long 80 hour training were the acknowledged "elite" of the Red Cross. Gray Ladies were trained by the chapter for the first time in 1942 to serve at Fort Ord Hospital. Camp and hospital corps came into being as the group who were liaison between the community and the hospitals and clubs. Their mission to supply entertainment, radios, refreshments, and even furniture for recreation rooms.

In 1942 the Red Cross moved into its first chapter-owned headquarters building on Dolores between Seventh and Eighth Streets. (Now the Pine Cone Building). Materials and documents scattered all over Carmel were collected to be housed under the new "home roof". A large box was built on the front of the building for the collection of clothing and magazines, but occasionally extraneous items turned up during the night. Even, to the amazement of the chapter, a case of empty gin bottles!

Service families flocking to Carmel strained the existing housing facilities to the limit, and brought many problems to the Red Cross, as the only official channel of communication between civilians and the armed forces. Local residents joined in the deluge of requests for

Council Barks, Growls At Carmel Dogs But Puts No Bite In Ordinance

The dog situation remains approximately unchanged in Carmel after an airing before the city council last night during which councilmen and city officials expressed their opinions in tones which occasionally sounded suspiciously like barks, snaps and growls.

Councilman Francis Whitaker proposed that an amendment be added to the existing dog nuisance ordinance which would further protect residents of areas without curbs and sidewalks from dog walkers who continually bring their animals to the same curbless spots and soon pollute them. But the proposal lost out when Councilman Eben Whittlesey and John Chitwood voted no and Mayor Frank Putnam declared the motion defeated.

Just prior to this, a report from Whittlesey, who is commissioner of health, was adopted over the dissenting votes of Whitaker and Councilman Gunnar Norberg. The report recommended no action be taken except for encouraging citizens to make use of existing civil legal remedies in cases of dog biting, and that dog owners make use of common good manners with regard to their pets.

One point was reiterated often in the discussion which consumed a large portion of the evening: under existing (county) law, responsibility for initiating action for redress of damage in dog bite cases rests with the bitten, and the bitten seem to be reluctant to carry their stories to the district attorney and sign complaints against dog owners.

Since the dog control topic is a Cerberus-type, dual-headed issue (first, the matter of pollution of

LITTLE LEAGUE TRYOUTS THIS SATURDAY

New candidates for positions on Carmel Little League teams will go through their paces at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning at the Carmel High football field. Under the direction of player-agent Ed Bauman and the six managers of Little League teams, each boy will be given a thorough check on baseball fundamentals and will receive coaching help which will help him in further tryouts. Little League fathers are also invited to attend the tryouts and lend a hand in teaching the fundamentals to the future Little Leaguers.

Boys who were members of he regular Little League teams last season need not qualify again this year, but the members of the Farm Team League must attend the tryout sessions in order to be assigned to a Little League club. To be eligible for Little League, boys must be in the 8-12 age group and all must furnish birth certificates for the player-agent.

Besides this Saturday's session, two more tryout camps are slated before the assignments are made to the regular Little League teams. The second tryout will be held Saturday, March 25 and the final one on Saturday, April 1. To be eligible for assignment to a Little League team, each candidate must attend two of the three tryout sessions.

Two new managers, Clayton Neill with the Sport Shop and Jim Kelsey with Turner & McEldowney, join the four veteran managers in directing the six teams this year. Returning, for further managerial activity are Jack Miller, San Carlos Realty; Art Carpenter, mentor for Pilot Market's 1960 Champions; Jack Cate, runner-up Wilder & Jones; and Newt Goodrich, Boys Town.

More coaching and managerial help is needed in the important Farm Team League in order to give more boys an opportunity to participate in this healthy recreational activity. Anyone with a desire to help in this program is asked to contact Newt Goodrich at the Pine Cone office.

CAM PUGET NEW PRO AT PEBBLE BEACH

Monterey Peninsula Country Club golf pro, Cam Puget, has been engaged as professional at the Pebble Beach Golf Links by Richard Osborne, president of Del Monte Properties. He will take up his duties immediately.

Puget, who started his career in 1923 at the Del Monte Golf Course as apprentice to the late Peter Hay, held the job at Pebble Beach as professional from late 1928 until July 10, 1937, when he was made professional at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club.

Puget has been a teaching pro during this period, but in 1935 won the State Open held at Pebble Beach.

He is married and lives with his wife in the Carmel Valley. His two daughters and their families—Mrs. Jack Russell and Mrs. Adrian Smeltzer—also live in the Carmel Valley.

His brother, Henry Puget, is the professional at the Cypress Point Club at Pebble Beach.

MONTEREY HIGH NINE EDGES CARMEL, 1 TO 0

Showing an early-season potential which could develop into a good baseball aggregation, Carmel High's varsity squad turned in a creditable performance in its opening game as it dropped a 1-0 decision to the strong Monterey High varsity. This was the first outing for both teams and the pitching and fielding on both sides was surprisingly good for so early in the season. Monterey picked up an unearned run in the third inning and it was good enough to eke out the victory for the hosts.

The Padres threatened to score in the second heat when Bud Cunningham stroked a hard-hit double between the outfielders only to be thrown out trying to score on Bobby Little's single. Kent Olsen was the only other Carmel hitter to get a safe blow, chopping an infield single in the fourth inning.

A quartet of Padre pitchers doled out four hits to the veteran Monterey swingers and they struck out nine Toreadores while giving up the four hits. Big Chris Wilkin southpawed the first two frames for Carmel and showed fine control for his first outing. The senior fireballer allowed only one man to reach first base and promptly picked him off with a clever move to first. Jim Kelley, sophomore transfer from Michigan, showed good stuff in the two innings he toiled on the mound and should be a valuable addition to the Carmel squad. Freshman Steve Johnson pitched one scoreless inning as did letterman Forrest Cornwall.

Fielding sensation of the game was Lindy Mahrt, a sophomore making his first start in varsity competition, who handled seven chances at the difficult shortstop position. Bob Little also handled several difficult chances at the hot corner and helped himself to a well-stroked single.

Rounding out the varsity squad in the opener were Al Tegtmeier, Rance Kastor, Kent Olsen, Mike Cole, Frank Bucher, Grant Pollock, Lee Puryear, and Bob Larsen.

The Padres take on opponent number two this afternoon when they travel to Pebble Beach for a 3:45 joust with the Robert Louis

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra's Spring or third concert of the season at Sunset Auditorium Tuesday, although greeted by a heavy downpour of rain so badly needed, brought out a practically full house that demonstrated the steadily growing local interest in symphonic music and the orchestra under Ronald Ondrejka. I was unable to attend the Salinas concert Monday and for once was a little late for the opening number owing to the weather, but heard the greater part of the Beethoven Overture, The Consecration of the House, being performed with vigor and happiness that befitted its character. The Boccherini Cello Concerto in B flat major brought forward Ira Lehn of Santa Barbara and University of California as soloist in this favorite of most cellists which Mary Dobell rehearsed with the orchestra before he came. Lehn's performance was received with enthusiasm for his brilliant exposition and tone, particularly in the Largo and Rondo movements accompanied by the string orchestra, which occasionally seemed too heavy in parts, probably owing to the tricky acoustics of the Sunset Auditorium. So, again, Oh for an adequate concert hall!

Faure's Pelleas and Melisande Suite gave the orchestra an opportunity to demonstrate its possibilities in pianissimos for which it has recently grown in achievement. Therefore the beauty of this sensitive composition was delivered with great credit to director and players alike for which there were repeated recalls. The four movements of the Tschaikowsky No. 5 Symphony followed intermission in a brilliant performance that carried over its meaningful test of the orchestra in this great symphony by the moody composer, who questioned the value of this particular work, thinking he had already "written himself out."

The thunderous applause that greeted Ondrejka and the personnel of the orchestra must have warmed their hearts for their devotion to the preparation necessary for any orchestra to attain significant performances. This brought the smiling director back many times to the earned enthusiastic endorsement of his labors and that of the orchestra members whom he finally urged to their feet from their applause of him to receive their own share.

A third performance of this concert will be given in King City on March 20 followed by preparation for the summer concert in May.

School Marriage Counselling Subject Of Panel Debate

A panel discussion on "What is the high school's responsibility regarding counselling towards marriage?" will be presented by a panel of local persons familiar with various phases of the problem in the board room of the Monterey City Schools, 700 Pacific Street, on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at a Monterey County Joint School Health Council meeting. Interested parents are encouraged to attend. Administrators and nurses from high schools throughout Monterey County will be present.

Speakers will be Miss Evelyn Sharp, Carmel High School biology instructor and counselor; Miss Theresa McGrath, psychiatric social worker in private practice in Salinas; Mrs. Frances Summers, home economics instructor, Pacific Grove High School; Lieutenant Edward Morrissey, chief of the social work section of the mental hygiene service at Fort Ord Army Hospital. Moderator will be Dr. Frank Gillette, assistant superintendent of Monterey schools.

NEED PRINTING?

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Kenneth C. Pfarrer, trust officer at Crocker-Anglo National Bank's Monterey Trust Department, is celebrating his 35th anniversary of service with that banking institution this month.

A native San Franciscan, Pfarrer joined Crocker-Anglo in March, 1926, and, four years later, he was assigned to the bank's trust department in San Francisco. In 1953 he was appointed an assistant trust officer and in 1956 a trust officer. When Crocker-Anglo established the first trust department on the Monterey Peninsula in April of last year, Pfarrer was transferred to Monterey to head that department.

He lives in Carmel with his wife and family, has a son recently graduated from University of California School of Pharmacy and a daughter now attending Carmel High School.

Before moving to the Monterey Peninsula, the Crocker-Anglo trust officer was an active participant in business and community activities, having been president of the San Francisco Estate Planning Council, the San Francisco Downtown Lions Club and the San Francisco Chapter of The American Institute of Banking. In addition, he is active in the Associated Trust Companies of Northern California and the California Bankers Association.

In civic affairs, Pfarrer is a member of the Advisory Council of the Lighthouse for the Blind, past treasurer of the Eye Research Foundation, Inc., and a committeeman of the Boy Scouts of America.

Sholom Aleichem's Tevya's Daughters At Circle March 24

A change of pace is planned for the Golden Bough Circle Theatre on March 24, when the Jewish folk-comedy, Tevya and his Daughters, replaces Thomas Wolfe's tumultuous drama, Look Homeward, Angel. Tevya is an adaptation, by the American writer Arnold Perl, of seven stories about peasant life in nineteenth century Russia. Originally in Yiddish, the Tevya stories have been translated into many languages and have helped to make a world-wide reputation for their author, Sholom Aleichem.

Known as "the Yiddish Mark Twain", Sholom Aleichem was, primarily a humorist, although his tales of Tevya's seven daughters have strong undercurrents of the poverty, political unrest and religious persecution that were rife in Czarist Russia. A native of Kiev, Sholom Aleichem fled his motherland in 1905, during a pogrom, and died in New York in 1916. Like his American counterpart, Twain, he used a nom de plume, consisting of the common Hebrew greeting, meaning "God be with you". His real name was Solomon Rabinowitz.

A Columbia long-playing record was recently released which presents a condensation of Tevya and his Daughters as performed in New York in 1957. Original music composed for the production by Serge Hovey has been obtained by the Circle Theatre, and a Jewish wedding dance has been choreographed for the arena stage by Kira Ivanovsky.

Under the direction of Frederick Rider, Sholom Aleichem's warmhearted and winning comedy will open on March 24 for a run of six weekends.

Art On The Peninsula

An exhibition, Collages in Stitchery, by Margaret Wentworth (Mrs. Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur) will open on Saturday at The Discovery Gallery, 260 Calle Principal, Monterey.

Mrs. Owings says she was lead to consider stitchery as an art form after watching women in Greece sit on their doorsteps busily stitching.

"Stitchery," she remarks, "has always been woman's pleasure and can be as inductive to creative work as a box of paints. The play of texture in contrasting fabrics and the tactile qualities of embroidery and braids offer a glorious medium to handle. The tools are scissors, needles, a million small stitches and a joy in work."

A heap of multi-colored cloth, embroideries, braid and raveled threads, remnants inter-related into vibrant compositions are the palette used for the 14 collages in the show.

This is the first time Mrs. Owings has shown work in this medium. She has had several local one-man shows of her paintings.

A preview of the exhibition, for invited guests only, will be held tomorrow evening from 5:00-7::00 o'clock.

The Carmel Crafts Guild in their case at the Harrison Memorial Library, will exhibit the work of Jean Fowler during March. Examples of various techniques such as tusche, glue, blockout and photostencils will be shown.

The display will feature a personalized book protector that can be cut to any average size book—with space on the inside fly-leaf for name, address and phone number. Another will show scenes done in Chinese style brushwork. Still another will be a larger print incorporating a combination use of tusche, glue and blockout for the three color screens. Some of the printing will be done with a graduation of tone of one or more colors.

Jean Fowler was a fashion illustrator in San Francisco before coming to Carmel to live. Since 1950 she has been devoting her time to silk-screen work and oil and watercolor painting.

A group of artists who paint at the Carmel Foundation Town House studio under the direction of Donna Davis is exhibiting pictures at Town House during the month of March. This is a diverse exhibit, covering a variety of subjects and styles and representing a wide range of experience. For several exhibitors this is a first experience in painting and their works demonstrate the originality and creativeness that can be achieved regardless of a late start.

Those with pictures in the show are: A. Voss, Georgia Swan, Royall Stowell, Emily Graves, Greata Rockey, Annie Leininger, H. Roberts, Maryan Crowe, Cora Smith, Alfred Firmin and Elizabeth McCormick.

Many of the pictures from the exhibit of last month by members of the Monterey Peninsula Senior Craftsmen and Painting Group will continue on view throughout March.

ing two additional houses.

Building Inspector Floyd Adams brought the Neumann plans to the attention of the commission because he was unable to certify one plan as a residence because of the number of bedrooms, bathrooms and outside entrances, also the small size of the kitchen and living room in relation to the number of bedrooms. He was able to deny a building permit for the second house because there was no inside communication between the family living quarters and four extra bedrooms, all with outside entrances.

Mr. Adams asked the commission to study the plans yesterday. Next week they will decide whether or not the first dwelling can be considered as a single family residence. It is a one-story structure on three levels. The plans show a living room approximately 15 feet square with its own bathroom, adjacent to a small narrow kitchen. Both rooms open into a long hallway off which are four bedrooms each with a bath, and outside entrance other than through the living quarters. No off-street parking is provided other than a single garage.

Commissioner Fred Keeble remarked, "As an architect I have never seen a single family residence like this. Neither house remotely resembles a single family dwelling."

Commissioner George Willox, also an architect, concurred with Mr. Keeble. Commissioner Dorothy von Meier pointed out that the plans had "no dining facilities."

During their study session, planners considered transferring commercial property on the northern boundary of the business district to the new C-1-L motel, hotel and apartment zone.

Chairman Blanks stated that the majority of the commission did not approve including half blocks fronting on Torres Street between Sixth and Third Avenue, now zoned for C-2 heavy industrial use, in C-1-L, as proposed by the planning commission study committee. He did not think this area should be included in any report to the city council.

He added that the inclusion of La Playa Hotel site in C-1-L was desirable to commissioners, also the block at the foot of Ocean Avenue contained by Torres, Sixth and Junipero.

Following discussion, commissioners indicated they would recommend that six lots on the east side of Junipero, five on the west, all below Third, should be zoned C-1-L to protect an entrance to the business district. This protection also applied to the block at the foot of Ocean Avenue.

Applying the same principle, commissioners thought nine lots along Camino Del Monte, San Carlos to Mission, should be included in C-1-L, also the block bounded by Third, San Carlos, Fourth and Dolores.

They decided to delay until next week any decision concerning a quarter block fronting on the west side of Junipero Street above Eighth Avenue, also two quarter blocks north of Eighth on each side of San Carlos Street.

They doubted whether either of these locations was a bona fide entrance to the business district.

Mr. Adams declared that Eighth Avenue was a much-travelled route to Junipero Street, similar in use to an entrance and should be considered as critical in future as well as present zoning.

STANFORD CONFERENCE AT MPC

The Monterey Stanford Conference will be held at Monterey Peninsula College on Saturday starting with registration at 9:00 o'clock in the lobby of the Library Building.

Stanford president, Dr. J. E. Wallace Sterling, will deliver the keynote address of the conference at 10:15 o'clock in the same building; his topic, No Little Plans. The talk will be preceded by seminars on Stanford admissions, athletics and development, given by associate directors of these departments.

Lectures by members of the Stanford faculty will follow Dr. Sterling's address.

After luncheon, the afternoon session will begin at 1:30 o'clock with a panel discussion, The Stanford Review of 1961. James T. Watkins, faculty coordinator at Stanford, will be moderator. Seven students will each present a different aspect of Stanford's campus life.

Lectures by two faculty members will conclude the conference. A no-host social hour at the Outrigger on Cannery Row will follow.

Among Carmel persons acting as hosts and hostesses for the conference are Mr. and Mrs. J. Arch Butts Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Wilson, Judge and Mrs. Gordon Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Hans von Richter, Mr. and Mrs. George Tomlinson, Gilbert Neill and Miss Gertrude Rendtorff.

Martin Irwin of Carmel is co-chairman of the conference with Jack Frost. Mrs. D. F. Reichard is secretary. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton B. Neill Jr. will be general hosts.

Mona Williams Is Primarily A Storyteller

By Ruth Thornburg

Mona Williams of Carmel is a storyteller, pure but not simple. She knows exactly how to get the most out of a word or a paragraph, where to put the accent, where to quiet down. Other writers produce hard hammering fiction which strikes a blow at some problem by means of a protagonist who utters violent truths and performs forceful deeds. But Mrs. Williams has in mind the telling of a story when she writes and this is what she does. Pay no attention to the jacket blurb which was composed by an idiot who speaks of the theme of this novel having interest for the world in which we live and ends by stating that the Williams live in the San Francisco Bay area, as if Carmel were a suburb of San Francisco, when everyone here knows that it is the other way around.

A city newspaper last week carried the report that a real estate developer in Sacramento had bought a 500 acre ranch near there for the building of a community which would eventually number 100,000 people. The thought of Mona Williams' book came to mind at once for this is what her main character did. Ira Swaim built a village in the Mojave desert, borrowed a name from the Bible by calling it Eden Village, and went on to quote from the Bible when he needed to get his own way or justify his actions before the world. He was a man whose abilities brought him great riches, brought him power, and whose power wrongly used caused his downfall.

To inhabit his village he purposely gathered together the weak and failing because he knew he could dictate their every future. Three couples stand out from the rest, the McLeans, the Bergs, and the Christies. All three gained from moving to Eden Village. The McLeans, because it was in the village that Vern McLean became a man able to lead and help his fellow villagers. The Bergs, because in the village Rosa Berg had a real home which she could love and care for. And the Christies, because there at last Joyce Christie was able to fulfill her passionate desire for a child. But while these little people were being fulfilled, Ira Swaim was destroying himself because he believed himself a god.

The Hot Breath of Heaven is small, as novels go today, because it is a fashion to weigh them in by pounds rather than ounces. It will not take more than a couple of evenings to read. But you had better read it because you will want to know what a speaker means when he says So-and-so Ira-Swaimed a community somewhere or other. Novels have added expressions to our language in just this fashion. The library has two copies, one of which will go to our Carmel collection after reservations are all filled. And the book is available at the local bookstores.

Francis Moulton

Francis Moulton, a member of the Carmel Foundation board of trustees, died on Sunday in his home on San Antonio Street near Seventh Avenue. He had been under a physician's care for some time but his death was unexpected.

Mr. Moulton had lived here for the past seven years. He was a member of the Old Capital Club, also served on the board of the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies. Prior to his retirement in 1954, he was vice president of R. H. Moulton Company of Los Angeles, an investment firm specializing in municipal bonds, with which he was associated for 40 years.

His marriage to Miss Gladys Robb took place on March 6, 1915, in Riverside and they celebrated their forty-sixth wedding anniversary ten days ago. Mr. Moulton was born in Riverside on January 16, 1892.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ann Elliott of Providence, Rhode Island; a son, John R. Moulton of Berkeley; a sister, Mrs. Doris Bennett of Riverside; two brothers, Robert H. Moulton of Los Angeles and Ferris Moulton of Menlo Park; and seven grandchildren.

Memorial services were held yesterday morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mr. Moulton may do so in the form of donations to Carmel Foundation, Box 3434, Carmel, or to the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies, 406 Van Buren Street, Monterey.

Dr. Crocker

Dr. Charles Crocker of Pebble Beach and Palm Beach, Florida, died of pneumonia on Monday in New York City. His grandfather, Charles Crocker, was a California railroad builder and banker. He was the brother of Mrs. Henry Potter Russell of Carmel Valley, Mrs. Andre de Limur of Washington D.C. and William W. Crocker of Pebble Beach and San Francisco, chairman of the board of Crocker-Anglo National Bank.

Dr. Crocker is also survived by his wife, the former Miss Margaret Brokaw of San Francisco; two daughters, Miss Suzanne Crocker, a student at Bennett Junior College in New York City, and Mrs. Mary Ann Crocker Elriek of Caracas, Venezuela; and a son, Charles Crocker III, a student at Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York.

Dr. Crocker, the son of William H. and Ethel Sperry Crocker, was born in San Francisco on November 2, 1904. He attended St. Paul School in Concord, New Hampshire, Yale University, and Columbia College of Physicians and Surgeons. He received his medical degree in 1936 and did postgraduate work in medicine at the University of Vienna. He was executive secretary of the Pan-American Medical Association.

Private memorial services will be held in California.

Californians switched on some "new" electricity in their homes in 1957—electricity made in an atomic power plant built by PG&E and General Electric at Vallecitos. This was America's first AEC-licensed nuclear generating station. Now, near Eureka, PG&E is building another and much larger atomic power plant. An advanced design, it is expected ultimately to produce electricity as cheaply as conventional plants in the same region. This $21 million project is one more step in PG&E's continuing program to build ahead for a state on-the-grow. PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY

Safeway's Big 35th

Although we can trace our "family tree" back much further, it has just been 35 years since the name SAFEWAY first appeared over a food store. All through these years, Safeway has been a tremendous factor in the economy and growth of our wonderful Golden State. Space permits us to list only a small part of the purchases made in California last year so we'll touch on just a few examples which we think will be of interest to you . . . Safeway's purchases of fresh fruits and vegetables in California last year totaled 75,000 carloads. Purchases of fresh meat, fish, and poultry in California last year totaled 250,000,000 pounds or the equivalent of 10,000 carloads, at a cost of $100,000,000. During this same period we bought approximately $15,000,000 worth of milk for our plants and our egg purchases exceeded 40,000,000 dozen . . . all from California farmers exclusive of our buying from other supply sources. This is new wealth. The number of dollars multiplies as it passes through the marketing and distribution channels and vitally relates to thousands of jobs. This is money that stays in California. At the present time, Safeway employs thousands of people in the United States . . . all of them receiving "able-to-buy" incomes and this, we think, you will agree helps our country's economy!

Uppman Shows Talent For Art Song As Well As Bach Festival Music

Those who heard Theodor Uppman as a soloist at the Bach Festival looked forward to his appearance last Thursday on the Carmel Music Society series. They were rewarded by hearing a fine and well-trained voice projected by a pleasing personality in a repertoire representing a wide range of composers. The evening's entertainment included songs, mainly love songs by sixteen composers from Benati to David Guion. Despite the wide range of selection, one did not have as much of a sense of variety and contrast as the musical sources would suggest. It is hard to say whether this was due to the selections made from each composer, or to the singer's style.

The opening Italian group, comprising songs by Benati, Bononcini and Monteverdi, disclosed an open, full and easy tone, a voice and manner that were relaxed and poised. The last of the three brought into play the well-controlled upper range of the singer's voice. Count Alma Viva's aria and recitative from the Marriage of Figaro was sung very expressively, yet with winning lyricism, and drew much applause. Mr. Uppman's voice is clear, open and produced with excellent projection. Four love songs by Mahler, Lieder Eines Farhrenden Gensselen called forth a broad range of emotional expression and showed vocal flexibility and a feeling for the dramatic. This group was followed, in a mood of rising intensity by Renato's aria Eri Tu. The long open phrases brought out the excellent tonal qualities of the singer's voice. The first part of the program closed with a vigorous and effective rendition of Mephistopheles' aria Devant La Maison from Berlioz' opera.

Following the intermission, three songs by Ravel covered a considerable range of feeling and were sung with great vitality.

Continuing in the French literature, we heard two gay and whimsical songs by Poulenc, Attributes and La Belle Jeunesse. Here was flexibility of style and a light step. By way of contrast these were followed by Kricka's moody and foreboding ballad, The Albatross. Charming and simple songs by Michael Head, Charles Ives and Aaron Copland again relieved the feeling of intensity.

The formal program ended on a light note with the rather whimsical and catchy love song I Rise When You Enter by Chanler. There could have been a more gripping climax to a very pleasant evening. Genuinely appreciative applause was rewarded by four encores: Nancy Hanks by Catherine Davis, Strauss' Zweignung, It Ain't Necessarily So from Porgy and Bess, and finally All Day on the Prairie by Guion. Probably Mr. Uppman will attain more depth and insight in his interpretation as he gains experience, but the clear, flexible and responsive vocal instrument with which he is blessed will never be more winning and responsive to varying demands. It is interesting to hear a singer in this type of concert after we have experienced him in the baroque music of the Bach Festival.

—Eben Whittlesey

Faure's Requiem At All Saints' On Passion Sunday

Passion Sunday at All Saints' Episcopal Church in Carmel will be observed at the 11:00 o'clock service by a presentation of Gabriel Faure's Requiem.

Shirley Hubbard of Monterey, soprano, and Donnelly Fenn of Pacific Grove, baritone, will be soloists. The choir will be assisted by a group of strings and harp under the leadership of Father Nicholas of Carmel. Players will be Mary Rosalie Haslett of Carmel Highlands, harpist; David Hagemeyer of Carmel, violinist; and Helen Stross of Orinda, cellist.

Organist-director is Robert Forbes.

Plans Revealed For Valley Hills Shopping Center

Construction of Valley Hills Shopping Center on three acres of the Meadows' original Spanish land grant in Carmel Valley, will commence within 60 days, according to Bernardine Meadows Taaffe and John F. Meadows, owners of the property.

The development will be south of the Carmel Valley Road and include the existing Valley Hills Nursery. The barn at the rear of the nursery will be remodelled into a hardware store, restaurant and antique shop on the ground floor, and three professional offices upstairs.

Seven more shops will be located in three connecting one-story buildings in front of the barn along the west boundary of the property. Parking for 90 cars will be provided in the angle enclosed by barn and shops. Entry will be off the Carmel Valley Road.

The restaurant will be at the rear of the barn. Windows will open on a patio and pool with a pasture for several horses beyond the landscaped area.

All new construction will be in keeping with the barn. Cedar shingles will be used for the roofs; pine boards and battens for walls. A covered walkway in front of the shops will lead to the barn.

Jan Wallace designed the Valley Hills Shopping Center for Mrs. Taaffe and Mr. Meadows.

Free Chamber Music Concert At Stevenson Sunday Evening

The Mills Chamber Players will give a concert on Sunday evening, 8:00 o'clock, at Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge.

The chamber group is made up of three musicians, all members of Mills College faculty. They are Naomi Sparrow, pianist; Nathan Rubin, violinist, and Morton Subotnich, clarinetist.

Naomi Sparrow was one of the finalists in the International DeBussy Contest. Mr. Rubin has appeared as soloist with the San Francisco Symphony. Mr. Subotnich also has been a symphony soloist and has received both the Copley Award and Fromm Prize for his musical compositions.

The group will play Grand Duo Concertant, Op. 48 for clarinet and piano by Weber; Parnassus of the Apotheosis of Corelli by Couperin; Sonata in C. Major, K. 296 for Violin and Piano, Mozart; Suite for Violin, Clarinet and Piano, Milhaud

ADDITIONAL SHOWING OF RUSSIAN FILM AT MPC

Alexander Nevsky, a film made in Russia in 1938 by director Sergei Eisenstein and composer Sergei Prokofiev, will have two showings at Monterey Peninsula College this weekend, instead of one as originally announced.

The film will be shown in the MPC Library lecture hall, not in the Armory which will be occupied by the Tri-County Science Fair. Showings are scheduled at 8:00 o'clock both tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Ides Of March Roman Banquet

Carmel High School Latin Club, composed of students who are studying Latin or have completed two years' work in this subject, held their annual Roman Banquet last night in the school cafeteria. Julius Caesar (Mike Walsh) and Caesar's wife, Calpurnia (Karen Freitag) presided as host and hostess at the feast. Senior, junior and sophomore students, all high-ranking Roman citizens for the evening, were attended by their slaves or first year Latin students. After dinner, the reclining, toga-clad citizens were entertained by dancing slaves.

Mrs. Willie Belle Mason, former Carmel High School Latin teacher, was guest of honor at the banquet. Miss Diane Evans, present Latin teacher, directed the event. She was assisted by Karen Freitag, Latin Club president, Mary Martin, vice president, and Cornelia Leib, secretary-treasurer. Romans in charge of arrangements were Barbara Cooke, decorations, Steve Shore, publicity, and Corey Chapman, flower grouping. Miss Dorothy Wright, vice principal, supervised food preparation and planning.

Mrs. Elise Beaton, first Latin teacher at Carmel High, inaugurated the annual Roman Banquet 15 years ago.

Publisher Here For Weekend

Philip Thayer, West Coast representative for the New York publishing firm of G. P. Putnam's Sons, and Mrs. Thayer spent last weekend in Carmel. On Saturday evening they attended the autograph party given at the Wells Books and Music store in honor of Mona Williams whose latest novel, The Hot Breath of Heaven, was released by Putnam's last week.

Elementary P-TA Potlucks

Carmel Elementary School P-TA annual potluck suppers will be held during the next two weeks.

Sunset School's potluck is set for Tuesday evening, 6:00 o'clock, in the cafeteria. P-TA members will sell coffee for 15 cents a cup to raise money for the school's music fund. Conversation will be the "entertainment" of the evening. All parents are urged to attend the event.

Woods School potluck will be next Thursday evening, 6:00 o'clock. Charges here will be a dime a dip from the variety of dishes offered for each course. Money raised will be used for Woods School music fund. There will be games for entertainment after dinner.

River School's potluck dinner will be on March 28, 6:30 o'clock. There will be a tumbling exhibition after dinner and a white elephant sale to benefit the music fund.

Room mothers in all schools will telephone parents in an endeavor to have record turnouts for the informal "get-together" evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Dieguez Visit

Recent Carmel visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Dieguez of Berkeley. They brought a guest, Mrs. Richard Strand of Park Ridge, Illinois, with them for a first visit here. Her husband, who is general manager of the Mirkle-Karff Gear Company of Chicago, was prevented by West Coast business commitments from being a member of the party. However, he and Mrs. Strand plan to bring their two schoolboy sons, Richard and Robert, to Carmel during a future vacation.

Rusty Draper London Bound

Rusty Draper of Carmel, appearing at Harold's Club in Reno, will make appearances this September in London over the British Broadcasting Corporation, the International Television Company and at the London Paladium.

The popular vocalist was invited to display his talents in England on the wave of his popularity there with two hit records, 10,000 Years Ago and Jealous Heart, along with his newest album, Hits That Sold A Million.

Draper, also, in Hollywood has played roles in 77 Sunset Strip and Rawhide. Following his engagements in Great Britain, he will play the starring role in a TV series.

His son John and daughter Judy attend Carmel High School. Judy is planning a career as a vocalist.

Wendy Plans New York Easter

Wendy Wiegman, daughter of Mrs. Beatrice L. Wiegman, is among Stephens College students who will spend spring vacation in New York and Washington, D.C. The girls, accompanied by faculty members, will visit the Metropolitan and Brooklyn Museums, also the Museum of Modern Art. They will tour the United Nations Building and magazine offices, go backstage to see theatrical celebrities after attending Broadway plays, hear concerts and see fashion shows.

Wendy graduated from Carmel High School last June. She was a cheerleader during her junior and senior years.

Nancy Elected President

Marymount College student Nancy Penoyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Penoyer of Carmel, has been elected president of the Marymount Players, campus dramatic group.

She also served as a member of the executive committee for the first annual Carnival, held on the Palos Verdes Estates campus, which proved to be one of the most successful extra-curricular activities of the year.

Next on her schedule is an acting-singing part in the production of The Boyfriend, a musical comedy set in England in the "Roaring 20's".

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Man is sustained under all circumstances through an understanding of God's omnipotence. This theme will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Matter" is the Golden Text from Psalms (73:26): "My flesh and my heart faileth: but God is the strength of my heart, and my portion for ever."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this passage will be read: "Consciousness constructs a better body when faith in matter has been conquered. Correct material belief by spiritual understanding, and Spirit will form you anew" (425:23-26).

Scriptural selections will include this additional citation from Psalms (56:4): "In God I will praise his word, in God I have put my trust; I will not fear what flesh can do unto me."

WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

The strange, horn-shaped objects in this picture are radio antennas used for long distance phone calls.

Though few telephone users are aware of it, a big share of today's long distance calls travel by radio relay rather than wire.

Its big advantage is that it can handle a huge number of calls. The first coast-to-coast radio relay network, completed in 1951, carried 3,000 phone calls at once. Now a new system has been developed that can take care of 17,500 phone calls simultaneously. It's already in service on part of our transcontinental network, and other installations will soon be made here in the West.

Marie Jo Cardinale is the first receptionist in the Monterey Business Office. Marie Jo, who has been with the Telephone Company for seven years, is here to give you, the customer, assistance when he comes to our office.

The idea of a receptionist is something new in the Telephone Company Business Offices in this area. By introducing the receptionist to the Business Offices we are striving to give you more efficient service when you come to us.

We of the Telephone Company are constantly searching for new ways to improve our service whether it be a local practice in the Business Office, or a highly technical piece of equipment.

Ruth McElroy In Karloff Play

Ruth Marion McElroy is back in Carmel, to stay, for the first time in almost four years. She has come here to act with Boris Karloff in On Borrowed Time which opens tomorrow night at the Wharf Theater and Opera House.

Ruthie has the role of Mr. Karloff's wife, Grannie. "A most appropriate part for a deluxe grandmother like me with 14 grandchildren", she says.

She is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Ann McElroy Fry, and the four Fry children. Before she leaves "sometime after Easter", Ruthie's son, George, his wife Lucile, and their five children will come from San Leandro "for a private viewing of Grandma," Ruthie declares.

Her younger daughter Mary (Mrs. Howard Cameron Williams of Palo Verdes) will join the family party in Carmel. But she'll leave her five children at home, according to Grandma Ruthie. They have seen their grandmother recently in Southern California.

Immediately before coming to Carmel, Ruth acted with Zasu Pitts for six weeks in the Curious Savage which played at the Pasadena Playhouse for five weeks and in Palm Springs for one week.

Since leaving Carmel several years ago, Ruth has acted professionally in New York plays and Eastern summer stock. She lived in Carmel until after her children completed their schooling here. During this time she had roles in many local theatrical productions. Her father, the late actor George Marion, also was a Carmel resident.

Book Section Broadway Review

Miss Patty Pierce, English department faculty member at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, will discuss The 1960 Season Along Broadway for the book section of the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

Her hobbies are theatre and travel. Last summer, in New York, she saw the six plays she will discuss. They are: The Tenth Man, Paddy Chayefsky; The Best Man, Gore Vidal; Toys in the Attic, Lillian Hellman; Raisin in the Sun, Lorraine Hansberry; Five Finger Excercise, Peter Shaffer; and The Miracle Worker, William Gibson.

Mrs. Fred E. Farley will introduce the speaker. Mrs. C. Tod Singleton, president, will be in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Wallace Lowry will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sinclair McClellan and Mrs. Walter Stevens. Hospitality chairman, Mrs. Carl Rasmussen, will have Mrs. Katharine M. Briggs, Mrs. Fred W. Tillotson, Mrs. Ralph H. Wilson and Mrs. Raymond Mapstead as her tea assistants. Mrs. Samuel B. Moore and Mrs. E. D. Post will preside at the tea tables. Mrs. E. M. Beecher will arrange flowers.

Pat Doolittle Has Opera Role

Patricia Doolittle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Doolittle of Carmel, will sing the soprano role of Ann Page in Otto Nicolai's opera based on the Shakespearean comedy, The Merry Wives of Windsor, for a three-night run opening this evening at the Boston University Theatre in Massachusetts.

The performance is a presentation of the university's School of Fine and Applied Arts. Pat is a graduate student studying voice in the music theatre department of the school.

She is a graduate of Carmel High School and attended Monterey Peninsula College before obtaining a liberal arts bachelor's degree from San Francisco State College.

Pat sang here with the Bach Festival Chorus for six years under directors Gastone Usigli and Sandor Salgo and in opera scenes at San Francisco State College. She has also played tenor saxophone, cello, and piano with various band, orchestra and chamber music groups. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, a professional music sorority.

Six-Month Honeymoon Ahead

Following their marriage early in April, Mrs. Borghild Brock of Pebble Beach and Kenneth Graham of Carmel will spend six months on a wandering honeymoon in a truck-camper all over the United States and Eastern Canada.

"I've never been East of Nevada, and always wanted to see the rest of the country," Mr. Graham declares. His mother was a member of the pioneer Gutierrez family of Monterey and Mr. Graham was born here and has lived here all his life.

He and Mrs. Brock plan to marry in Nevada, then wander through the states of Arizona and New Mexico where the desert should be in bloom, continue to Texas, then "anywhere we want to go on the way to Canada and back," Mr. Graham says.

They are both rock hounds and on their travels will gather rocks to bring home to polish and keep as mementoes of their exploration of the United States.

Mr. Graham is employed by the Carmel Cleaners as a deliveryman but has already started his vacation. He is busy fixing up his house in Carmel for when he and his bride return from their travels.

Colonel Brown Has New Duty

Lieutenant Colonel Thomas H. Brown, son of Colonel and Mrs. Thomas W. Brown of Carmel, recently reported for duty at the Western Transport Air Force. He will be assigned as chief of the Civil Engineering Division.

The Western Transport Air Force is the Pacific arm of the Military Air Transport Service, the nation's strategic airlift force. It flies high priority troops and cargo to all parts of the free world.

Colonel Brown originally entered service as a West Point cadet in 1939 and was later assigned to the Army Air Corps. He served with distinction as a fighter pilot in both World War II and the Korean War and was recently with the Military Assistance Directorate of Hq. EUCOM in Paris.

Colonel and Mrs. Brown, the former Elvira Crandall of Glen Cove, Long Island, reside at Travis Air Force Base.

Dr. Adler At Sunset Tomorrow

Dr. Mortimer J. Adler will attend a special assembly at Sunset School tomorrow afternoon at 3:05 o'clock and present a 54-volume set of Great Books of the Western World to the school.

The books are primarily for the use of Sunset's Great Books class started this year by Mr. Thomas Cloud as a seventh and eighth grade elective subject.

Dr. Adler is a representative of the Encyclopedia Britannica Publishing Company which is donating the books for the students' use.

Redding Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Redding will be at San Francisco airport on Sunday when their daughter, Diane, arrives by polar flight from Geneva, Switzerland, where she and her husband, John L. Van Dien, have been living since their marriage last April in The Hague, Holland.

Diane has been in Europe for over two years. On March 26 her husband will fly here to join her. He will be coming to Carmel for the first time and will meet his brother-in-law, Dell Redding, a student at Fresno State College, when Dell comes home during Easter vacation for the family reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Redding were in The Hague when Diane and John were married, but John's parents have not met Diane. When she and her husband leave Carmel on April 9 they will go to Southern California then to Boyceville, Wisconsin, to see John's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Van Dien.

At the end of a month's vacation, Diane and John will return to Geneva where John is associated with Chrysler International.

J. Schoeninger

Joseph Schoeninger, 91, died on Monday in a local hospital following a period of failing health. He brought his family to live here in 1925, established one of the first homes on Carmel Point at Scenic Drive and Stewart Way and was active in community affairs for many years.

Mr. Schoeninger served as a member of the board of trustees of the Grace Deere Velic Clinic and assisted in arranging for the clinic to become the Peninsula Community Hospital. He was president of the Monterey County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for many years, also head of the Carmel Point Zoning Commission.

Mr. Schoeninger shared the interest of his wife, Hester, in establishing the first Carmel P-TA unit when Sunset was the only school in the district. When Mrs. Schoeninger arranged for the first community carol singing around a Christmas tree on Ocean Avenue, Mr. Schoeninger volunteered to be the official Santa Claus at the gathering. He also took a keen interest in her work as a member of the board of education and was an ardent gardener. The carpet of blazing orange mesembryanthemum in front of his home is a delight to all those who pass along Scenic Drive each spring. He took an active part in the Peninsula Garden Club for many years.

Mr. Schoeninger was born in Germantown, Pennsylvania, on June 21, 1869. Prior to his retirement in 1925 he was president of the Western Photogravure Company of Chicago, Illinois. His marriage to Miss Hester Hall took place in Burlington, Iowa, in 1906.

Besides his wife, Mr. Schoeninger is survived by two daughters, Miss Hester Schoeninger, an instructor at Monterey Union High School, and Mrs. Alexander Corazzo of Chesterton, Indiana; a sister, Mrs. Theodore Vladimiroff of White Plains, New York; three nephews, American author John Gunther of New York, J. F. Schoeninger of Delafield, Wisconsin, and Boris Vladimiroff of Coos Bay, Oregon; two nieces, Mrs. John Zur of White Plains, New York, and Miss Jean Gunther of New York; and two granddaughters, Nina and Michel Corazzo of Chesterton, Indiana.

His son, Joseph Schoeninger Jr., died five years ago.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea. Inurnment was in El Carmelo Cemetery columbarium.

Stevenson crew. RLS has won a pair already this season, clipping the good Menlo School nine and winning a close one from the strong Monterey High junior-varsity.

Next Tuesday afternoon, the Padre varsity travels to Salinas for a practice tilt with North Salinas High while the junior-varsity stays home to host the Viking jayvees.

PADRE CAGERS OUTCLASSED IN PAL TOURNAMENT

Although Coach Dan Yurkovich's Carmel High hoopsters gave it a good battle, they were in too deep against the big schools participating in the Pal Invitational Tournament and bowed out after two losing efforts. The Padres put up an argument against Washington High of Fremont before dropping a 46-40 decision on opening night, but the Red and Gray took a severe 66-39 drubbing from the talented Campbell High aggregation.

Shoved into the tournament because Gilroy High was barred from participating by virtue of a ruling by the CCAL Board of Managers, the Carmel High lads were at a disadvantage against the star-studded rosters of the big AA schools.

John Wilkin turned in a fine 13-point effort against Washington High to keep the Padres close to the Fremont gang, but the winners were too strong down the stretch run and pulled away in the final quarter. In Friday night's consolation game with Campbell, the game was never in doubt after the first period. The Buccaneers enjoyed a 28-14 lead after the first quarter and toyed with the local preps for the rest of the mismatch. Junior Jim Brown found the range for 13 markers to lead the Padre scorers but his hustling play wasn't enough to counter the big rangy Campbell quintet.

Seniors Chris and John Wilkin, Bud Cunningham, Bob Little, Doyle Clayton, Mike Draper, Scott Forbes, and Mike Dunham donned the Padre spangles for the last time in the Pal Tournament and they will be sorely missed when the 1961-62 season rolls around. However, a good nucleus remains in the persons of Jim Kelley, Pete Morse, Jim Brown, and Tony Belleci. All these lads tower well over six-feet and each has acquired varsity playing experience during the past season.

Council Barks, Growls At Dogs But Puts No Bite In Ordinance

shrubbery and streets and second, that of danger of attacks from unleashed animals running legally free in residential districts) some of the speakers chose to talk on one part of the question, some on the other.

"When a dog bites a citizen on a public thoroughfare," Norberg said, "that dog should be incarcerated, which is no different from what would happen to me if I went around biting people on a public thoroughfare."

"Dogs are not going to make a distinction between private and public property," Whittlesey said. (Dogs may run unleashed on private property.) "The only thing we could do is adopt a leash law (outside the business district) which we haven't the manpower to enforce, or put up more warning signs for owners but I don't like to think of a proliferation of signs either."

"There is a weakness in our ordinance because it fails to provide for control of dog nuisances where there are no curbs and sidewalks," Whitaker said. "There is one particular place up on Junipero that looks like a manure pile. Sometimes I have to go around my own neighborhood with a shovel after dogs have been walked there."

"We can't have a man running around watching for when the dogs are going to violate the ordinance," Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann said. "And you can't tell a dog is going to bite you until he bites. Some of the bite victims turn out not to have been bitten at all. We have a man marking cars. He keeps his eyes open but he can't watch all the dogs and mark cars at the same time."

Chief Klaumann went on to say that every one of the bite victims who has come to his office to complain has been advised that the case should be taken to the district attorney, but they have failed to arrive there.

Chitwood and Norberg didn't think it mattered whether or not a bite victim was actually bitten so that the skin was broken. He might not have a mark on him and still be scared out of his wits, they pointed out. The former suggested that where there are big dogs known to be vicious, the neighbors should be encouraged to sign complaints.

If you are going into whether dogs are big or little, Whittlesey said, speaking in a less-than-serious vein, you might as well have a dog zoning law, twenty-five pounds of dog for each thousand square feet.

Back on the other side of the issue, Whitaker said, "Dogs are destroying the formal landscaping that we are requiring maintainance of in the business district."

"But we don't want to bring undue hardship on animals and owners," said Chitwood.

"Nor adopt laws we can't enforce," said Whittlesey.

In all ways the discussion amounted to an exhaustive exploration of the dog menace problem, and one in indirect proportion to the amount of action taken.

During the adjourned session, the council also:

Denied a proposal to adopt a uniform electric code prepared by the Association of Mechanical Contractors for the City of Monterey.

Denied a claim for personal injury damages made by Louise Bruckner.

Took no action on an air pollution control measure already adopted by the County of Monterey, but directed that an explanatory letter be sent by the city to the county polution control officer indicating that Carmel supports the need for such control in areas of the county likely to be used by industry in the future or in use now for that purpose.

Approved support of state legislation to increase motor vehicle or gas taxes to supply funds for existing street deficiencies.

Referred for further study a proposal of Whitaker's to reorganize the street department so that it has street and park divisions within the department.

Rejected as "none of our business" a proposal by Norberg to advise the Monterey County Cooperative Council against taking action on its own status, organization or dissolution without the full membership present.

Referred to the Carmel Planning Commission the matter of recommending restrictive amendments to the county on the zoning of still more land in the development at the mouth of Carmel Valley for commercial use.

Voted to hire an extra police officer for Easter Week.

Heard a three-step recommendation from building inspector Floyd Adams designed to get underway the city's declared war against violators of the rooming house ordinance. Adams recommended starting an immediate firm enforcement of the existing zoning law, employing "some device or individual" to make the actual investigations where known and flagrant cases of violation exist, combining the efforts of the building inspector and city attorney toward planning revision or amendment to the existing law which would enhance the ordinance and maintain the R-1 zone as it should be maintained. The matter was referred to the committee on administration.

Decided to negotiate to have needed repair work done at the Forest Theater after no bids were received.

The date for the public hearing on Rancho Mar Monte's application for annexation to the Carmel District has been postponed until May 22, Stuart Mitchell reported.

TWO AMBULANCE CALLS

Members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department answered two police calls for the Red Cross ambulance last Friday afternoon.

At 2:55 o'clock they went to a Pebble Beach golf course and picked up Captain Steve Lagomarsino, a member of the San Leandro police department, who had suffered a stroke. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Peninsula Community Hospital.

The same afternoon at 4:05 o'clock, the ambulance went to Pilot's Market to transport Eric Warnick, Box 5010, Carmel, to the Peninsula Community Hospital. He was treated for minor injuries received in a fall, then released.

information regarding relatives in Europe, servicemen who had become prisoners of war, and even inquiries concerning interned Japanese gardeners. So great was the load that the home service department called upon the services of Dana Rood, Jr., who spent day after day as a volunteer with the sole duty of processing the requests and forms for prisoner of War messages and food packages.

On the other hand, many wives of servicemen, who were residing in Carmel for the duration, joined the volunteer services of the chapter and gave valuable assistance. Mrs. John Taylor, whose husband was with the Pacific Fleet, became a nurses aide instructor. The late Mrs. Richmond Kelly Turner was an active worker through the trying days when her husband, the late Admiral Turner, was reported missing in action for a brief period in 1944. Admiral Turner, to show his appreciation of the Red Cross services he knew to be of morale boosting importance to the men in the South Pacific, presented the Chapter with a colored lithograph depicting the 5th Amphibious Force capturing Pacific islands, entitled Suddenly and Violently.

The need for blood was becoming more urgent, it being shipped to the Pacific area, and at this period the chapter undertook to transport local blood donors to the blood center in San Jose twice a month. The response was great.

The Junior Red Cross became imbued with the spirit of their elders and did their share of raising money for the chapter. At one time they arranged a dance at the High School, featuring jitterbug experts Bill Monroe and Nancy Fitzhugh. Admission, at ten cents a head, netted the project and the Red Cross a full $300.00, which the promoters noted was far more than they had expected to make.
